Letter from Lee

Pastor

April 2025

Dear LCC Community,

In my most recent Lenten sermon on connecting to the sacred as a path toward healing ourselves and the world, I talked about the concepts of the sacred feminine and sacred masculine.

The sacred feminine has gained attention because the destructiveness we witness in the world has often been blamed on traits identified as “masculine.” These include domination at any cost, like pursuing profit over the well-being of people and the planet. In contrast, the sacred feminine has been seen to offer traits we so desperately need, like compassion and caring and multi-dimensional thinking. And yet, as I said in my sermon, it is more accurate to label the destructive forces not simply as masculine, but as “toxic masculinity.”

As we approach Easter on April 20, it strikes me that the promise of our resurrection story can help give us hope in embracing and protecting the sacred. For defending life and nurturing well-being. These are traits of the sacred masculine, and they are resurrected day after day, though unfortunately we often miss this because evidence of the toxic masculine is so prominent and receives so much negative media coverage.

During his ministry, Jesus of Nazareth emulated the sacred masculine in a multitude of ways, including as the Good Shepherd who will stop at nothing to find a lost lamb. Jesus was rooted in care and inclusiveness and protection, not power over others.

The life of the resurrected Christ continues to offer us awareness of what’s most sacred and how to pay homage to it. And it offers us what we need to serve the sacred, including wisdom and guidance and strength and courage and love.

We are part of this story every time we are kind, especially when this is difficult. We serve the sacred every time we are kind... every time give even a small amount to a charity that helps the needy or protects the environment... every time we support human rights and dignity, etc., etc., etc.

May we awaken to the flow of Christ consciousness deep within us. It is our river of resurrection and the promise of new beginnings.* And may we find there the inspiration and strength we need to reclaim the sacred, and thereby to heal ourselves and the world.

Peace and blessings,

Lee

Missions Report February--April

One Great Hour of Sharing (OGHS)

When we support the United Church of Christ's One Great Hour of Sharing we are sending our message of love and hope to people in need throughout the world and here in the U.S. Here is just one example.

The hurricanes that devastated Western North Carolina in Fall 2024, are still having an impact on so many still in need. The excerpts below from the UCC website document a follow up visit by UCC representatives in mid-December 2024. They touch upon the unique difference and show some of the ways the UCC helps.

“...the Southern Conference has not stopped caring for those affected in our Southern Conference area, from phone calls, to visits, to obtaining financial assistance from our affiliated ministries sent to the National Setting, to aid in assisting those in need, to assistance being sent directly to clergy affected by the UCC Pension Boards. The UCC Insurance Board has been standing in the gap as well to assist with getting the claims process started as quickly as possible.

“In addition to the many things Rev. Thompson [UCC] shared, she told us that in her disaster work they always said the one thing not to send is clothing items. Another spokesperson in our group, familiar with the area, stated the one thing that was needed was cash money so that people could get the things they really needed. The warehouses were full of items graciously sent but they have run out of space to store things.” (<https://www.soc-ucc.org/hurricaneheleneaftermath>) That is the strength of the UCC and its worldwide network targeting the needs directly and over the long haul..

The UCC works with international partners to provide sources of clean water, food, education and health care, small business micro-credit, advocacy and resettlement for refugees and displaced persons, and emergency relief and rehabilitation. One Great Hour of Sharing also supports domestic and international ministries for disaster preparedness and response. One of the unique important ways the UCC works is by partnering locally...so needs are addressed correctly, most efficiently, and just as important sustainably...as long as it takes.

You will find OGHS envelopes at the back of the church Sunday, April 6, for our month-long collection. Make your check payable to the Leverett Congregational Church and write OGHS in the memo line. You can make your donation either in person at church using the OGHS envelopes, by mail to P.O. Box 324, Leverett, MA 01054, or online at <https://www.leverettcongregationalchurch.org/donate> (write OGHS in the comments).

CNC Children's Closet

On Saturday, March 29, the CNC hosted another successful open house with 29 families attending, giving parents the opportunity to socialize and shop for free children's clothing. What an amazing local resource for families and their little ones!

The CNC Children's Closet will be CLOSED during school vacation week
April 21 – 25

Otherwise, Closet will be OPEN on Thursdays (drop-in/no appointment needed) from 8 a.m. to noon and by appointment as needed on other days, for families who cannot make a Thursday morning. The Franklin Hampshire area Diaper Bank continues to supply us with disposable diapers we can offer to families for free. We continue to be grateful for the support, space and opportunity to be there for families. Families are incredibly appreciative. We are located at the Dixon House, 4 Montague Road, Leverett.
